Company may seek and obtain injunctive relief against the breach or threatened breach of the foregoing undertakings, in addition to any other legal remedies which may be available under law or equity. The Company shall be entitled to recover its costs and fees, including reasonable Attorney's fees, incurred in obtaining any such relief.

The Employee further acknowledges and agrees that in the event of the termination of employment with the Company the Employee's experience and capabilities are such that the Employee can obtain employment in business activities which are of a different or non-competing nature with his or her activities as an employee of Company; and that the enforcement of a remedy hereunder by way of injunction shall not prevent the Employee from earning a reasonable livelihood. The Employee further acknowledges and agrees that the covenants contained herein are necessary for the protection of the Company's legitimate business interests and are reasonable in scope and content.

10. Non-Solicitation of Company's Clients

During the course of employment and if Employee's employment with Company terminates for any reason, the Employee shall not, for a period of one year from the date of termination, have any business dealings whatsoever, either directly or indirectly or through corporate entities or firm or any associates with any customer or clients of Company or its subsidiaries or any person or firm which is contracted or been contacted by Company as a potential customer or client of Company; and Employee shall keep in strictest confidence the Confidential Information, both during the Employee's employment and subsequent to termination of employment, and shall not during the period of employment or thereafter disclose or divulge to any person, firm or corporation, or use directly or indirectly, for the Employee's own benefit or the benefit of others, any information which in good faith and good conscience ought to be treated as confidential information including, without limitation, information relating to the Company And/or its subsidiary companies, client's Proprietary and Confidential Information/data as mentioned in the confidentiality clause 2 in this agreement.

11. Non-Solicitation of Employees

During your employment with the Company and for period of one year after, you shall not:

(i) directly or indirectly employ or offer employment to or solicit the employment or engagement of or otherwise entice away from the employment of the Company and/or subsidiary company any individual who is employed by the Company and/or subsidiary company whether or not such individual would commit any breach of his/her contract or terms of employment by his/her reason of leaving his/her employment; or

(ii) procure for or assist, directly or indirectly, any person, relative(s) or family member(s), entity, company, affiliate, associate to employ, offer employment, solicit or otherwise entice away any individual who is employed by the Company and/or subsidiary company.

12. Governing Law

This Agreement shall be construed in accordance with the Indian laws. The courts at Delhi shall have sole and exclusive jurisdiction. The prevailing party shall be entitled to an award of its claim, reasonable costs and expenses, including attorneys' fees, in any action of proceeding arising out of this agreement.

13. Notice

Any notice to be given under this Agreement shall be sufficient if it is in writing and is sent by certified or registered mail to Employee at his residence address as the same appears on the books and records of Company or E-Mail to his/her registered email Id with the Company at the time of joining or to the Company at its principal office, attention of the President, or otherwise as directed by Company, from time to time.

14. Survival

The provisions of this Agreement relating to confidentiality, non-competition and non-solicitation shall survive the termination of this Agreement, however caused. The obligations of confidentiality shall survive the termination of this Agreement in perpetuity.
